             THE CLERK: Good morning, your Honor.

            Case on trial. The parties are present.
                                                        All
    jurors are in, but they're not in the courtroom at this 5
    time, your Honor.
 6
 7
             THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Doherty.
             Good morning.
8
            MS. TAGLIARENI: Good morning.
9
             Well, as I'm sure you all recall, at the end of 10
    yesterday we got a second note indicating an impasse.
11
    I indicated it was my inclination to give the Tuey-12
13
    Rodriquez charge first thing this morning. I'm still of that mind. The jurors have deliberated a little bit 14
    over eleven hours on a case that took less time to try 15
    in terms of the evidence, and so I do think that 16
17
    they've engaged in due and thorough deliberation.
             Any comments or thoughts of counsel?
18
19
             MS. TAGLIARENI:
                                   I agree; I think it's No.
    appropriate to give Tuey-Rodriguez at this time.
20
             THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Zalkind?
21
22
             MR. ZALKIND:
                           I also agree.
             THE COURT: Okay.
23
24
             So you may bring the jury in.
25
    (In court with jury at 9:12 a.m.)
```

THE CLERK: Good morning, your Honor.

Case on trial. All parties are present, all the jurors are present.

THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Doherty.

Good morning, ladies and gentlemen of the jury and Mr. Alternate.

First, I'll ask my standard question for you, whether anybody's had any difficulty following any of my instructions. If so, you may raise your hand and I'll see you at sidebar, or you may inform a court officer.

Not seeing any hands, I'll continue

Based on your last communication to me, or based upon your communications to me, ladies and gentlemen of the jury, at this time I'm required to give you the following instruction.

Our Constitution and laws provide that in a criminal case the principle way for deciding questions of fact is by the verdict of a jury. In most cases, perhaps strictly speaking in all cases, absolute certainty cannot be attained nor is it expected. The verdict to which a juror agrees must be his or her own, the result of her own convictions, and not a mere acquiescence in the conclusion of his fellow jurors. Yet, in order to bring twelve minds to a unanimous result, you must examine the questions submitted to you with candor and with a proper regard and deference and respect to the opinions of each other.

You should consider that it is desirable that the case be decided and that you have been selected in the same manner and from the same source from which any future jury would be. There's no reason to suppose that this case will ever be submitted to twelve persons more intelligent, more impartial or more competent to decide it, or that more or clearer evidence will be produced. And with this in mind, it is your duty to decide the case if you can do so conscientiously.

In order to make a decision more attainable, the law imposes the burden of proof on one party or the other in all cases. In the present case, a criminal case, the burden is on the Commonwealth to establish every element of the crime charged beyond a reasonable doubt. If you are left in doubt of any element of the crime, the defendant is entitled to the benefit of the doubt and must be acquitted.

However, in conferring together you ought to pay proper respect to each other's opinions and listen with an open mind to each other's arguments. Thus, where there is disagreement, jurors for acquittal should consider whether a doubt in their own minds is a

                         So say all members of this panel?

1 THE JURORS: Yes.

THE CLERK: Members of the jury, you will harken to your verdicts as recorded by the Court.

Mr. Winston, you may be seated.

Jurors, you may seated.

THE COURT: All right. The verdict may be recorded.

And, ladies and gentlemen, I want to thank you for your difficult service in this case. You are about to be discharged. And I would simply ask that you collect in the jury room one final time, just so I can personally thank you for your service and answer any questions you may have about the case that I can answer, or about the process, or any constructive or other criticism you may have about the way we do things here. It's not my intention to question you about anything to do with your verdict or your deliberations, however.

So, you are discharged. You are relieved from all of my instructions regarding discussing any aspect of this case. You're free to discuss it with anyone you want. And thank you on behalf of the Commonwealth and the Court. You are discharged. And I'll see you momentarily.

for a two-year probationary period, with the condition that the defendant have no contact, stay away from the victim in this case,

I did just have the opportunity, the victim/witness advocate had the opportunity, to speak with Ms. She wanted the Court to know -- she's obviously back in Maine at this point -- that this -- although I understand that the defendant wasn't convicted of the indecent assault and battery, he was still convicted of an assault and battery pertaining to the charge related to touching, the accusation of touching Ms.

Ms. wanted the Court to know that this has affected her in ways that she doesn't even really realize yet. She has had anxiety following this, the experience of waking up without her clothes on, having no idea how they were removed. And then learning that it was Mr. Winston who in fact removed them, caused her to be confused and embarrassed. She knew that something had happened but she didn't know exactly what, and that has caused her to have issues with trusting people in every aspect of her life since then, and her confusion, embarrassment and lack of trust in people for the last four years or so.

I would suggest that a straight probationary period of two years is appropriate in this case, given the defendant's conviction at this point and Ms.

feeling on the matter. And I would ask your Honor to impose a sentence at this time. Thank you.

THE COURT: Thank you.

Mr. Zalkind.

MR. ZALKIND: With all due respect, it's almost like having been trying a first degree murder case, where my client was charged with first degree murder and he was convicted of assault and battery by means of a dangerous weapon with no prior record, and the prosecutor in that case came up and clearly recognized that he wasn't convicted of the murder and that he should receive practically no sentence for the assault and battery that he was convicted of.

I think that the prosecution in this case has done a great job. It's a very difficult case. She was very skilled. But there was a great deal of conflicting evidence that came in, and if there's any harm to Ms. ______ that has nothing to do with this conviction, your Honor. He was not charged with touching her in any, any private areas. And if she has problems, it has to come from Kamilah Willingham who caused these problems, because she accelerated this thing completely out of control.

This man has no prior record. Four years he's been facing first the Harvard charges and then these charges. He was put on bail and complied with every single condition or bail, whether he's in New York or New Mexico or California or here.

He hasn't been able to go back to law school. We don't know, with this conviction, whether he'll be able to go back to law school, your Honor.

I think that he's been punished enough. He should get three months of administrative probation. That is the reality of the conviction, your Honor. He was not convicted of indecent assault and battery and should not be sentenced on the basis of anything with an indecent assault and battery. And whatever the statement the prosecutor made — and she's very skilled with the jury, a tough opponent — this is not under the victim-impact statement, it doesn't come in under the victim-impact statement, your Honor.

And I most respectfully ask, he should receive a very, very minimal sentence with no supervision, your Honor. There's no reason he shouldn't be able to go on with his life. His life up until the time this occurred was just flawless, and then afterwards for four years, over four years that he's faced this

             THE COURT: Thank you.
17
             And I have considered the recommendations of 18
    both parties and considered the totality of the 19
    circumstances and evidence in the case. As defense 20
21
    counsel points out, this was not a sexual assault that 22
    Mr. Winston was convicted of. He is convicted of, as

No one is asking, obviously, for a committed sentence here, which is appropriate. But I certainly question the extent to which Mr. Winston ultimately needs supervised probation. Having said that, I do sentence him to 90 days of supervised probation, followed by a period of 180 days of administrative probation for the charge of assault and battery.

THE CLERK: Mr. Winston, it is ordered by the Court that you keep the peace and be of good behavior, unsupervised probation, for a period of 90 days, and after that, unsupervised probation -- excuse me, it is

THE COURT: It's 90 days of supervised probation, and 180 days from and after that of unsupervised probation.

Probationary supervision fee is applicable towards you, and a Victim/Witness fee is applicable towards you.
